

Hi ACTO Conference Delegate,

Many of you will be familiar with The World Business and Executive Coach Summit (WBECS) as they have grown to become the largest event in our industry with 14,500 attendees last year.

They have partnerships with almost all of the largest coaching organisations in the world and we have partnered with them for the past 2 years and had a great experience.

Ben Croft the CEO has reached out to request a meeting with each of the ACTO members to discuss a number of global initiatives that will benefit those that provide training to coaches.

He also has a number of speaking opportunities and collaborations available to help build your client bases.

You can book a meeting in with Ben here: <https://www.timetrade.com/book/FMHLS>

If no times work for you, you can contact Ben directly ben@wbecs.com and he will have his team arrange a more appropriate time.
